

The Dusty Halos: Long Bio (<250 words)

With celestial harmonies and intricate fingerstyle guitar, The Dusty Halos combine the textures of old time acoustic music with original songwriting by Rebecca Fairless. Since forming in 2022, the folk duo has performed in Nova Scotia, Ontario, and Quebec, quickly gaining attention for their songcraft and intimate vocal chemistry. In 2023, they released their debut album, a self-titled EP, featuring five emotion-laden tracks, which has been featured on CBC Radio's Mainstreet and East Coast Music Hour. Weaving themes of heartbreak and longing into tuneful tapestries, The Dusty Halos explore the interplay of light and darkness, finding solace in the shadows. The duo's sound echoes the music of Gillian Welch, The Be Good Tanyas, and Neko Case, and has been compared to "Joni Mitchell singing with herself."
